VOLUME 76, NUMBER 4, SUMMER 2010

- 389 With a Little Help From My Friends (and Mark Twain Too): Musings and Farewells
Steve Graham
- 394 Effectiveness of a Supplemental Early Reading Intervention Scaled Up in Multiple Schools
Carolyn A. Denton, Kim Nimon, Patricia G. Mathes, Elizabeth A. Swanson, Caroline Kethley, Terri B. Kurz, and Minyi Shih
This article describes a randomized study in 31 schools examining the effectiveness of a small-group intervention for first-grade students at risk for reading difficulties and disabilities.
- 417 Anchoring Problem-Solving and Computation Instruction in Context-Rich Learning Environments
Brian A. Botige, Enrique Rueda, Timothy S. Grant, Ana C. Stephens, and Perry T. LaRoque
This study tested a new version of Enhanced Anchored Instruction for achieving the dual purpose of advancing students' computation with fractions and problem-solving skills.
- 438 Instruction in a Strategy for Compare-Contrast Writing
Charles A. MacArthur and Zoi Philippakos
This study extends previous work on strategy instruction in writing by investigating the effectiveness of instruction in a strategy for planning, writing, and evaluating compare-contrast essays.
- 457 What Do Alternate Assessments of Alternate Academic Achievement Standards Measure? A Multitrait-Multimethod Analysis
Ryan J. Kettler, Stephen N. Elliott, Peter A. Beddow, Elizabeth Compton, Dawn McGrath, Kristopher J. Kaase, Charles Bruen, Lisa Ford, and Kent Hinton
This study evaluates scores from six states' alternate assessments, concurrently with scores from measures of related constructs. The AA-AAS scores are highly related to adaptive behavior, but also related to academic competence and achievement.

- 475 Effects of Using Modified Items to Test Students With Persistent Academic Difficulties
Stephen N. Elliott, Ryan J. Kettler, Peter A. Beddow, Alexander Kurz, Elizabeth Compton, Dawn McGrath, Charles Bruen, Kent Hinton, Porter Palmer, Michael C. Rodriguez, Daniel Bolt, and Andrew T. Roach
This study investigated whether tests composed of modified items would reduce the performance gap between students eligible for an alternate assessment based on modified academic achievement standards (AA-MAS) and students not eligible.
- 496 Measuring Family Outcomes in Early Intervention: Findings From a Large-Scale Assessment
Melissa Raspa, Donald B. Bailey, Jr., Murrey G. Olmsted, Robin Nelson, Nyle Robinson, Mary Ellen Simpson, Chelsea Guillen, and Renate Hours
Families report positive outcomes as a result of participating in early intervention, but variations exist by race/ethnicity, income, time in early intervention, helpfulness of program staff, and degree to which services were family-centered.
- 393 GUEST REVIEWERS FOR VOLUME 76
- 495 PROFESSIONAL OPPORTUNITIES
- 511 2009-2010 INDEX BY AUTHOR AND TITLE

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Exceptional Children, an official journal of the Council for Exceptional Children, publishes original research and analyses that focus on the education and development of infants, toddlers, children, youth, and adults with exceptionalities. This includes descriptions of research, research reviews, methodological reviews of the literature, databased position papers, and policy analyses. Exceptional Children publishes quantitative, qualitative, and single-subject design studies.

Selection of manuscripts for publication is based on a blind peer review process (the identity of the authors not known to the reviewers). Reviewers evaluate manuscripts for the importance of the work, including adequacy of the rationale for the study or paper, scope and adequacy of the literature review, soundness of the methods, educational implications, and quality of writing. Author guidelines are available from the Editor or from CEC headquarters.

Articles should be submitted online at <http://journals.cec.sped.org/ec/>
