- 7 The Child Outcomes of a Behavior Model
J. Ron Nelson, Kristin Duppong Hurley, Lori Synhorst, Michael H. Epstein, Scott Stage, and Jacquelyn Buckley
A cohort longitudinal design was used to assess the immediate and long-term effects of a three-tier behavior model on the social behavior and academic competence of low-risk, at-risk, and high-risk elementary students.
- 31 IQ Is Not Strongly Related to Response to Reading Instruction: A Meta-Analytic Interpretation
Karla K. Stuebing, Amy E. Barth, Peter J. Molfese, Brandon Weiss, and Jack M. Fletcher
A meta-analysis evaluating the relation of IQ and intervention response did not support the hypothesis that IQ is an important predictor of response to intervention.
- 54 The Relationship Between Parenting Stress and Behavior Problems of Children With Autistic Spectrum Disorders
Lisa A. Osborne and Phil Reed
This article shows that parenting stress more strongly relates to child behavior problems in older children, but to autistic severity in younger children, and that parenting stress precedes child behavior problems, rather than vice versa.
- 74 Assessing the Transition-Related Strengths and Needs of Adolescents With High-Incidence Disabilities
Erik W. Carter, Audrey A. Trainor, Ye Sun, and Laura Owens
This study examined the extent to which teachers, parents, and youth with emotional and/or behavioral disorders or learning disabilities aligned in their assessments of students' transition-related strengths and needs across nine planning domains.

- 95 What Is Published in the Field of Special Education? An Analysis of 11 Prominent Journals
Margo A. Mastropieri, Sheri Berkeley, Kimberly A. McDuffie, Heidi Graff, Lisa Marshak, Nicole A. Connors, Christina M. Diamond, Pamela Simpkins, Floyd Robert Bowdey, Amie Fulcher, Thomas E. Scruggs, and Yojanna Cuenca-Sanchez
 This 19-year analysis of 11 major journals revealed that although more research based than not research based articles are published, the amount of intervention research published over time has remained consistently small.
- 110 Best Friendships of Students With and Without Learning Disabilities Across Late Elementary School
David B. Estell, Martin H. Jones, Ruth Pearl, and Richard Van Acker
 Friendships from fourth to sixth grade for students with and without learning disabilities are compared. Aspects examined include proportion of friends that have learning disabilities as well as presence, number, and stability of relationships.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Exceptional Children, an official journal of the Council for Exceptional Children, publishes original research and analyses that focus on the education and development of exceptional infants, toddlers, children, youth, and adults. This includes descriptions of research, research reviews, methodological reviews of literature, data-based position papers, and policy analyses. Exceptional Children publishes quantitative, qualitative, and single-subject design studies. The journal also includes reports of official actions of the governing bodies of CEC.

Selection of manuscripts for the publication is based on a blind peer review process (the identity of the authors not known to the reviewers). Reviewers evaluate manuscripts for the importance of the work, including adequacy of the rationale for the study or paper, scope and adequacy of the literature review, soundness of the methods, educational implications, and quality of writing. Author guidelines are available from the Editor or from CEC headquarters.

Four copies of all manuscripts as well as an electronic copy on a 3½" disk or CD (Microsoft Word or RTF file) should be submitted to Steve Graham, Editor, Exceptional Children, Vanderbilt University, P.O. Box 228, Department of Special Education, Nashville, TN 37203. Authors should include a cover letter indicating that the manuscript has not been previously published and is not currently under consideration elsewhere. The cover letter must also indicate if data from the manuscript is part of a larger study or if any part of the data has been included in another paper.

EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN (ISSN 0014-4029) is published 4 times per year in the Fall, Winter, Spring, and Summer by the Council for Exceptional Children, 1110 North Glebe Road, Suite 300, Arlington, Virginia 22201-5704. Members' dues to the Council for Exceptional Children include $24.00 for annual subscription to EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN and $36.00 for TEACHING EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN. Subscription to EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN is available without membership; U.S. institution/library annual subscription $155, Canada $160, foreign air $190. Single copy price is $25.00 (within last 3 years). U.S. periodicals postage is paid at Arlington, Virginia 22204 and additional mailing offices.
